

A focused next step for persistent spine pain.

We evaluate appropriate patients for DRX9000 non-surgical spinal decompression - a disc-focused option for people who want to explore conservative care before another injection, round of PT, or surgery.

By the numbers 1,400+ patients treated | 34,000+ decompression sessions | 500,000+ spinal pumping cycles as of 09/2026

For Capital District providers: The Disc Doctors offers a clear evaluation pathway for patients whose symptoms and imaging suggest disc involvement, especially when prior care has not produced lasting relief.

Consider a referral when disc pathology is driving the case

- Herniated or bulging cervical or lumbar discs
- Sciatica, radiating pain, numbness, or tingling
- Degenerative disc disease
- Selected spinal stenosis and posterior facet syndrome cases
- Persistent neck or low-back pain associated with disc injury
- A patient wants a non-surgical, non-injection option evaluated

Every patient is screened before treatment

- 1 Clinical and imaging review
We review symptoms, history, and available MRI or other imaging. Digital X-rays are used when clinically indicated.
- 2 Orthopedic and neurologic examination
We assess function, neurologic signs, and symptom patterns to help determine clinical suitability.
- 3 Clear candidate determination
Only patients we believe are appropriate for decompression proceed to a plan of care.
